

Sarah Finkel Bio

Sarah Finkel has been a graphic designer for 10 years. She left the field of professional graphic design three years ago to work in mental health. However, she continues to donate her graphic design skills to various community organizations, such as P.E.R.R.O., in order to help educate residents on issues of environmental justice. Aside from graphic design, Sarah is also a knitter and ceramic artist.

P.E.R.R.O. (Pilsen Environmental Rights and Reform Organization) is a grassroots community group of Pilsen residents that formed in 2004 to fight the disproportionate amount of pollution in the Pilsen neighborhood. P.E.R.R.O. believes all people have the right to live in a clean and healthy environment, regardless of their race and class. Its mission is to spread awareness about this concept of environmental justice and make Pilsen a healthier place to live, work, and raise children.
